

Andy Cheshire - Operations Manager - MEng

Andy has wide experience gained in the food industry which built on a first degree in Chemical Engineering. Working in a number of senior roles in blue chip and family owned organisations, Andy achieved significant operational changes at the front end.

In 1997, he qualified as a TPM Facilitator and visited manufacturing plants in Korea and Japan where TPM was being operated. Since then, he has applied lean tools to achieve significant, locked-in operational change.

Andy works with senior teams down to shop floor teams, with particular emphasis on getting the lean measures and deployments plans right and building businesses for sustainability. Andy has helped transform clients in plastics, food, engineering, communications and service sectors.
